Regulatory basis: K.A.R. 28-51-103(b)(1)(C), (d), (e); K.S.A. 65-5117; KDHE Application Guide, Personnel and Background Checks sections. Guidance: Fair Credit Reporting Act, 15 U.S.C. 1681b; FTC, Using Consumer Reports: What Employers Need to Know; EEOC and FTC, Background Checks: What Employers Need to Know; AIG, Nationwide, and Morris Garritano on employee-owned vehicles used for business.

D-1. Hiring Process

Golden Rule Home Care & Concierge Services LLC hires only qualified staff in line with written job descriptions.[1] The administrator runs every hire.[2] Open jobs are posted on the agency website, Facebook, Nextdoor, and Care.com, and shared by word of mouth.[3] Each applicant completes an application, an interview, reference checks, credential checks, and a criminal background check before any offer is final.[4]

A supportive care worker must be at least 18 and must have a driver's license, auto insurance, reliable transportation, prior experience, and a clean record.[5] Every new caregiver serves a 90-day probation period.[6]

D-2. Interviewing

The administrator interviews each applicant using the agency interview form.[6] The interview covers work history, experience with older adults or clients with special needs, availability, driving, and the limits of supportive care.[7] The form also asks:[7]

1. Why do you want to be a caregiver?
2. What personal qualities, strengths, or life experiences would make you a good caregiver?
3. How would you handle it if a client with dementia says something hurtful or accuses you of something untrue?
4. How would you preserve a client's dignity and make them comfortable while helping with deeply personal tasks like showering or using the bathroom?
5. How do you handle stress or emotionally draining days?
6. If you were caring for my loved one and they had to be taken to the hospital for an emergency, what immediate steps would you take?
7. What would you do if it's the end of your shift and your replacement hasn't arrived?

D-3. Reference Checks

The agency checks three references for each new hire, and at least one must be a past employer or supervisor.[8] If a reference does not answer after two tries, the administrator asks the applicant for another reference.[8] Each check is recorded on the reference check form with the date, the person reached, and the answers, and is filed in the personnel record before employment starts.[8]

D-4. Credential Validation

The administrator verifies any license, certification, or degree a position requires.[9] Each degree is supported by official transcripts.[9] Any Kansas license or certification is confirmed with the issuing board or registry, and the printout or confirmation is filed in the personnel record.[10]

D-5. Criminal Background Checks

The Kansas Department of Health and Environment (KDHE) licenses the agency.[11] The Kansas Department for Aging and Disability Services (KDADS) runs the background check and is the agency's only background check vendor.[12]

Before each KDADS request, the administrator searches the federal OIG exclusion list (oig.hhs.gov/exclusions) and the National Sex Offender Public Website (nsopw.gov) and prints both results.[13][14] The administrator then submits and pays for the eligibility check under K.S.A. 65-5117 in the KDADS system.[12][15] KDADS obtains Kansas criminal history from the KBI.[16] The check is name-based for now, and KDHE says national fingerprint checks will be phased in.[17] The fee is $10 per name plus a card processing fee.[18] The alternate administrator may submit the request at the administrator's request when the administrator is away or unable to.[19]

The KDADS Criminal Record Check program covers two required checks: the KBI criminal history check and the Kansas Nurse Aide Registry.[20] Golden Rule also checks the DCF Adult Abuse, Neglect and Exploitation Central Registry for each applicant, but does not request the DCF Child Abuse and Neglect Central Registry check.[21]

The personnel file holds the OIG and sex offender search printouts, a copy of the eligibility determination request sent to KDADS, the KDADS criminal history result and any registry findings.[22] Results are kept in the confidential file described in D-10.[23] Only the administrator sees criminal history results.[23] The alternate administrator may see them only while acting for the administrator, at the administrator's request, during an absence or a period when the administrator cannot perform her duties.[19]

The agency runs a new background check every two years and after any allegation of abuse, neglect, or exploitation against the employee.[24]

The current State of Kansas list of prohibited offenses under K.S.A. 39-970 and 65-5117 is attached to this policy.[25] [ATTACH: the current Prohibited Offenses list under K.S.A. 39-970 and 65-5117.]

D-6. Provisional Employment

K.A.R. 28-51-103(e) allows a one-time provisional hire for up to 60 calendar days while KDADS results are pending, under supervision by a fully trained employee.[26] Golden Rule Home Care & Concierge Services LLC does not use provisional employment.[27] No new hire starts work until the background check is complete and reviewed by the administrator.[27]

D-7. Performance Evaluations

Each employee receives a written performance evaluation within six months of hire and once a year after that.[28] The 90-day probation review does not replace the six-month evaluation.[29] The administrator performs evaluations.[29] If a manager or supervisor is hired later, that person may perform them at the administrator's request.[29] Signed evaluations are filed in the personnel record.[28]

D-8. Health Records and TB Testing

Before working with clients, each employee provides:[30]

1. A self-reported health history;[31]
2. A health assessment by a physician, nurse practitioner, clinical nurse specialist, physician assistant, or registered nurse certifying the employee can perform the job functions in the job description; and[32]
3. A current two-step tuberculosis skin test following CDC guidelines for health care workers.[33]

Each skin test in the two-step series takes two visits.[34] The PPD (purified protein derivative) is placed under the skin at the first visit, and the reaction is read 48 to 72 hours later at the second.[34] A new health assessment is done every two years and after any significant health event.[35] The agency pays for required health assessments and TB tests.[36] No routine TB test is given after the first one unless there is a known exposure or ongoing spread in the setting.[37] Each employee receives TB education every year, as set in Section I.[38] Current K.A.R. and CDC guidance support this approach; any final change from the 2025 KDHE proposals will be folded in when published.[37]

D-9. Competency Before Client Contact

No worker provides care to a client without the manager present until the worker shows competency in every area of the Section I checklist.[39]

D-10. Personnel File Contents

Each employee has a current personnel record containing:[40]

1. Position title;[41]
2. Signed and dated job description with qualifications;[42]
3. Proof of any required license, certification, or degree, with official transcripts for degrees;[43]
4. Performance evaluations at six months and yearly;[44]
5. Reference check documentation completed before employment;[45]

6. Health history, health assessments, and TB results;[46]
7. KDADS eligibility determination request; and[47]
8. Criminal history and registry results.[48]

Training records, including abuse, neglect, and exploitation training and ongoing training, are also filed in each record.[49] Personnel files are kept in a locked cabinet in the office and on a locked computer.[50] Medical records and criminal history results are kept in their own locked cabinet and computer folder, separate from the regular personnel file.[51] When an employee leaves, the file moves to a separate locked cabinet for former employees and is kept indefinitely.[52] If the business closes or changes ownership, files may be destroyed once they have been kept seven years after the employee left.[53] If a claim or investigation is open, the files are kept until it is resolved.[54]

D-11. Driver Verification

This applies to every employee who drives for work, including in a personal vehicle.[55] Every employee in the same role goes through the same steps.[7]

Before an employee drives for work, the administrator collects:[56]

1. A copy of a valid driver's license;[56]
2. A current auto insurance declarations page or certificate of insurance showing the named insured, the vehicle, the policy dates, and the liability limits; and[56]
3. The employee's written confirmation that the insurer knows the vehicle is used for work and the policy has no business-use exclusion.[57]

Golden Rule Home Care & Concierge Services LLC verifies that the driver told the insurer of business use. The driver pays any premium increase. The agency may choose to cover that increase later.

The agency's business liability insurer decides whether employee-held auto insurance is accepted and what limits it requires.[57] Golden Rule requires at least $100,000 per person, $300,000 per accident and $100,000 for property damage, or higher limits if required by the agency's business liability insurer.[58] The driver's personal auto policy is enough. No additional hired and non-owned auto or commercial auto policy is required.

The employee gives new proof at each policy renewal.[57] If coverage lapses or falls below the minimum, the employee does not drive for work until new proof is on file.[57]

A driving record obtained through a screening company is a consumer report under the Fair Credit Reporting Act.[59] Before ordering one, the administrator gives the employee a written notice, in a document by itself, that a driving record may be used for employment decisions, and gets the employee's written permission.[60] If records will be checked throughout employment, the notice says so.[61] Before acting on a record, the administrator gives the employee a copy of it and "A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act."[62] After acting, the administrator gives the employee notice with the screening company's name, address, and phone number, a statement that the company did not make the decision, and the employee's right to dispute the record and to get a free copy of the report from the screening company if the employee asks within 60 days.[63]

The license copy, proof of insurance, driver agreement, and driving record checks are kept in the personnel file.[64]
