Effective date: Jan. 1, 2027. Review cycle: once a year.

Regulatory basis: K.A.R. 28-51-104(a), (b); K.A.R. 28-51-117(a), (b), (f), (g); K.A.R. 28-51-105(e) and K.S.A. 65-5116 (insulin); KDHE Application Guide, Provision of Services and Non-Skilled Services sections.

G-1. Client Acceptance and Admission Criteria

Golden Rule Home Care & Concierge Services LLC admits a client only when the agency reasonably expects to meet the client's needs in the client's place of residence.[1] The client must live in Manhattan, Riley County, and need only the supportive care services listed in G-2.[2] The agency does not admit a client who needs nursing, wound care, medication administration, respiratory care, tube or syringe feeding, or any other skilled care service.[3] A client at high risk for choking or aspiration, or with wounds that need bandage changes, is referred to an agency licensed for home health services.[4]

Before admission the manager completes the client assessment in G-5.[5] The administrator reviews the services and charges with the client and gives the client the bill of rights in Section K.[6] If the agency cannot meet a client's needs, the administrator refers the client to another home health agency.[7]

G-2. Provision of Services

The agency provides only the supportive care services listed on its KDHE license application.[8] Those services are:[8]

- Companionship;[8]
- Homemaker services (light housekeeping);[8]
- Meal preparation;[8]
- Transportation;[8]
- Errands and shopping for the client;[8]
- Medication reminders, limited as set in G-9;[8]
- Respite;[8]
- Help after surgery, within the limits in G-8.[9] This includes help with personal hygiene, meal preparation, errands, clearing walkways in the home when the client uses a walker, chores and laundry, medication reminders, and transportation to appointments.[9] It does not include medical or skilled nursing care, such as giving medications, checking vital signs, or helping with physical therapy.[10] If the client needs home physical or occupational therapy, the agency may recommend providers or help schedule in-home visits.[11] [VERIFY: confirm post-surgery help stays within the supportive care definition in K.S.A. 65-5101 and K.A.R. 28-51-117(g).]

Organizing, downsizing, transition support, communication with adult children, and concierge services are offered separately from licensed care.[12] Section L governs those services.[12]

G-3. Plan of Care

The manager writes a plan of care for each client based on the client assessment, with the client and family taking part.[13] The plan lists the services, the frequency of visits, and any limits on tasks.[14] The client is told about any change before it takes effect.[15] The manager reviews the plan of care at least every 60 days and sooner when the client's condition or needs change.[16] Each review is dated and signed in the client record.[17]

G-4. Communication to Support the Plan of Care

All staff serving the same client keep in contact with the manager so every service supports the plan of care.[18] Workers report changes in the client's condition, missed or refused services, and medication concerns to the manager by phone at (785) 323-0104 during the shift.[19] The manager passes updates to every worker assigned to the client.[20] [TAYLOR TO DECIDE: any written handoff method between workers, such as a visit log kept in the home.]

G-5. Client Assessment

Before services start, the manager meets the client in the home and completes the client assessment form.[5] The assessment covers the client's daily living needs, home safety, mobility, ability to chew and swallow, skin condition, medication reminder needs, emergency contacts, and the client's physician.[21] The plan of care in G-3 is built from the assessment.[13] [TAYLOR TO DECIDE: approve the assessment form template to attach to this policy.]

G-6. Written Assignments

The manager prepares written assignments and instructions for each worker based on the plan of care.[22] Each assignment states:[23]

1. The procedures the worker uses to meet the client's needs;[24]
2. When the worker must report to the manager; and[25]
3. The requirement to document the services provided at each visit.[26]

The manager reviews the written assignments every three months, or sooner as the client's status and needs change.[27]

G-7. Scope of Practice for Supportive Care Workers

A supportive care worker provides only the supportive care services in G-2 and the assigned duties in G-8, consistent with the definition of supportive care services in K.S.A. 65-5101, K.A.R. 28-51-117, and the training in Section I.[28] A worker does not perform any task that is a skilled care service.[3] A worker who is asked to do something outside this scope declines and calls the manager.[29]

G-8. Assigned Duties

Workers follow these limits from K.A.R. 28-51-117(g):[30]

- Skin care: only on unbroken skin, with no active chronic skin problems.[31] No applying medication and no wound care or dressing changes.[32]
- Ambulation: only for a client who can balance and bear weight and whom a qualified health professional has found independent with an assistive device.[33]
- Bathing: allowed.[34] A client with wounds that need bandage changes must be under a home health services agency.[35]
- Dressing: ordinary clothing and over-the-counter support stockings only.[36] No elastic bandage wraps or prescription antiembolic or pressure stockings.[37]
- Exercise: normal bodily movement as tolerated.[38] Workers may encourage, but do not assist with, exercise prescribed by a therapist.[39]
- Feeding: only when the client can chew and swallow without difficulty and sit upright.[40] No syringe, tube, or IV feeding.[41]
- Hair care: shampoo that needs no prescription, drying, combing, and styling.[42]
- Mouth care: denture care and basic oral hygiene.[43] Not for clients who are unconscious, have trouble swallowing, are at risk of choking, or had recent mouth surgery.[44]
- Nail care: soaking, pushing back cuticles without tools, and filing.[45] No nail trimming.[46]
- Positioning: simple alignment, only when the client can signal the need.[47] No positioning that requires skin care.[48]
- Shaving: electric or safety razor only.[49]
- Toileting: help to and from the bathroom, bedpans, urinals, commodes, incontinence pads, and emptying catheter and ostomy bags.[50] No inserting or removing catheters, no external catheter care, no suppositories, and no enemas.[51]
- Transfers: only per the written assignment, when the client can stand, pivot, and help.[52] Gait belts and lift devices only after training and shown competency.[53]
- Respiratory care: not performed.[54]
- Masks and oxygen: a worker may remove and replace a cannula or mask to shave or wash the face, and may set oxygen flow by written instructions when changing tanks, only after specific training and shown competency.[55]

G-9. Medications

Workers do not set up medications and do not administer medications.[56] A worker may help with medication only when the client, a family member, a nurse, or a pharmacist has preselected it into a reminder container marked with the day and time.[57] Help is limited to:[58]

1. Asking whether medications were taken;[59]
2. Verbal prompting to take medications;[60]
3. Handing the marked reminder container to the client; and[61]

4. Opening the marked container if the client is physically unable to.[62]

These limits apply to prescription and nonprescription drugs.[63] A worker reports to the manager right away when medication is taken too often, not often enough, or at the wrong time.[64]

G-10. Nursing Services

The agency is licensed to provide only supportive care services and does not provide nursing services.[65] No employee performs a nursing task while working for the agency.[65]

G-11. Pre-filling Insulin Syringes

No unlicensed person employed by Golden Rule Home Care & Concierge Services LLC, in the course of employment, shall prefill insulin syringes for any client.[66] The agency does not offer this service.[66]

G-12. Handling Client Money

A worker handles a client's money only when the written assignment allows it.[67] When using the client's money, the worker gives the change and receipts to the client and records each purchase in a money log kept in a central place in the client's home.[67] [TAYLOR TO DECIDE: whether the money log is signed, and by whom.] Workers do not borrow from clients, use client cards for anything outside the assignment, or accept money beyond what the errand requires.[67]

G-13. Transporting Clients

A worker who drives a client must have a valid driver's license, active auto insurance, and a clean driving record.[68][69] The vehicle interior must be clean and presentable, free of smells, trash, or other debris, with a clear seat for the client.[70] Proof of insurance, notice to the insurer of business use, and minimum liability limits follow D-11. The driver's personal auto policy is enough.[71] The agency reimburses mileage for client transportation at the current IRS business standard mileage rate, as set in the Employee Handbook (Section M).[72]

Adoption

The governing body of Golden Rule Home Care & Concierge Services LLC adopts the policies in this section.[73] Taylor Anderson, as sole member and owner of the LLC, approves them and reviews them once a year or sooner when a rule changes.[74]
